Sunday readings: Joy tempered by Trials. Human beings cannot live without joy. If life consisted only of funerals without weddings, only of work without recreation the burden of human existence would be unbearable for most of us. However, expecting too much joy from life is also dangerous because it easily results in disappointment. Friends may tell us enthusiastically about a new movie in town: "You must see it!". We look forward with great anticipation to it and finally get to see it. In most cases, we come away sorely disappointed. During the fifty days of Easter, the Liturgy of the Church invites us to be joyful because Christ, our Savior, is risen and we as God's adopted children will live with him forever. Christians have reasons for joy, but we should not forget that God's kingdom has only been initiated in us. The full realization will come later. On this side of the grave we will have to live with the tension between "already" and "not yet." Expecting too much from Church and religion may disillusion you. Today's Bible readings deal with Christian existence that is often joy mingled with tears.
