Reading reflections:

There is no doubt that “How to pray” is a problem for many Christians. To begin with, one must get rid of the secret suspicion that prayer is nothing more but a good psychological means of comfort.

The great philosopher, Martin Buber, has said: “All real life is meeting.” When you meet a good person and become that person’s friend, your meeting will enrich your life. Whenever you experience person-to-person contact you live more fully. This is very evident in the encounter of two persons in love.

“Prayer” is that encounter or meeting between you and God. Prayer is a dialogue between you and the “Absolute You”, Almighty God. You speak and you listen when you meet God in your Bible, in a good sermon, in the Eucharistic celebration, in any good person, in any event of your life. If real life is “meeting” this certainly applies to your meeting God in prayer. Prayer is something we must learn by doing. Prayer formulas may help us. They are useful for community prayer. They are a guide and inspiration for private prayer. Daily Bible reading in the family could be concluded by a spontaneous prayer by one member of the family. Try it!!

A little Humor: God is talking to one of his angels. He said, “Boy, I just created a 24 hour period of alternating light and darkness on Earth.” The angel replied, “What are you going to do now?” God said, “Call it a day.”

*DEAR GOD, I WANT TO TAKE A MINUTE,
NOT TO ASK FOR ANYTHING FROM YOU,
BUT SIMPLY THANK YOU FOR ALL I HAVE!*
