Church Tuckpointing Capital Campaign

We are preparing to begin a Capital Campaign to raise funds for the tuckpointing of our church. The estimated cost of this important preservation project is $135,675. Additional information about the project and campaign will be shared in the coming weeks. If you would like to contribute, please place your donation in an envelope clearly marked "Tuckpointing ."

Thank you for your generosity and support as we work together to preserve our church for future generations.

Corpus Christi Procession:

Thank you to everyone who participated in the celebration of Corpus Christi. Thank you to Mark Stier who spent many hours planning and preparing. Thank you to Joe Johannigman who provided the fried chicken. Thank you to everyone who worked to make this a success, and to everyone who donated vegetables, salads and beverages. We hope to make this an annual event.

11th Sunday in Ordinary Time:

When human beings try to describe God, they are bound to do so with human concepts and limited terminology. We cannot adequately describe God, the "wholly Other." We simply do not have either the concepts or the words to do so. The Biblical writers were limited by the same human condition, though we view their message as inspired (guided) by God. Hence, in reading the Bible, we should first find out what the human word means, then through it we will discover what God has to say to us. Today's Bible readings portray God as kind, good, loving, compassionate, even moved with pity. The message of today is: We, you and I are God's own, his special possession. Let us appreciate this invitation to intimacy with God! Love is a two way street. Keep contact with God, especially through regular meditative Bible reading.

June 25th : There will not be Adoration or Mass on Thursday, June 25th. Father will be attending a convocation.

Religious Education Parents and Catechists: There is a folder in the back of church where you can return your Religious Education Surveys. Please return the surveys by June 28. If you did not receive one, please contact Jeanne. Thank you!

A little humor:

A Pastor and one of his deacons are flying to Los Angeles for a conference. It's a long flight so the deacon leans over to his pastor and asks if he would like to play a game. The pastor just wants to take a nap, so he politely declines and turns toward the window to catch a few winks. The deacon, a persistent fellow, explains to the priest that the game is easy and a lot of fun. "It's like this," he says. "I ask you a question, and if you don't know the answer, you pay me $5. Then you ask me a question, and if I don't know the answer, I'll pay you $5."

The priest is tired and doesn't want to play, so the deacon raises the stakes. "Okay," he says. "if you don't know the answer, you pay me $5; and if I don't know the answer, I'll pay you $50!"

Now he's got the priest's attention, who realized the deacon isn't going to stop until he plays the game, so he agrees.

The deacon asks the first question. "What's the distance from the earth to the moon?" The priest doesn't say a word, but reaches into his wallet, pulls out a five-dollar bill and hands it to the deacon.

Now, it's the priest's turn. He asks, "What goes up a hill with three legs and comes down on four?" then he turns away and goes to sleep. The deacon is baffled. He takes out his laptop and searches the Internet and the Library of Congress.

Frustrated, he sends e-mails to his friends – all to no avail. After about an hour, he wakes the pastor and hands him $50. The priest takes the money and again closes his eyes. The deacon won't have that. He shakes the pastor and asks, "Well, so what's the answer? What goes up a hill with three legs and comes down on four?" "I haven't the slightest idea," the priest says, and then he reaches into his wallet, hands the deacon $5, and goes back to sleep.
